Improving Homes Improving Lives in Orkney

Annual Report 2017 - 2018

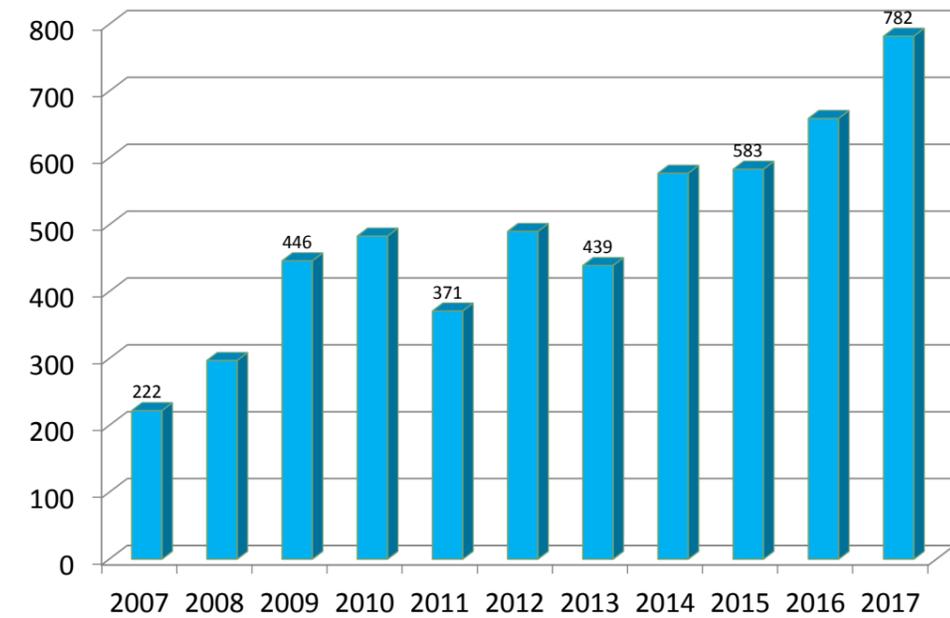

During 2018 we will be celebrating 30 years of Care and Repair.

In 1988 the Scottish Office tasked Orkney, along with seven other Local Authority areas in Scotland, to deliver a three year pilot project aimed at providing advice and practical assistance to elderly and disabled householders, assisting them to remain in their own homes for as long as possible. The service during this period was managed by Shelter Scotland and due largely to the huge effort of these early "pioneers", the support of our Glasgow Coordinating office and Shelter Scotland, the way was paved to roll-out the Service across the country, where we see 33 offices established in 30 local authority areas today.

The Team in 2018

It is important to recognise the extent of and nature of the Care and Repair sector in Scotland as a whole: "Over a four year period, Care and Repair Services completed over £53M of improvement works and completed almost a quarter of a million projects which enabled older and disabled people to remain independent at home. This activity makes a substantial contribution to the 'Age Home & Community' agenda which aims to shift the balance of care. (Care and Repair Good Practice Guide 2018)

We are proud to be part of a service that has earned itself huge support and recognition not only locally but across the country, mainly due to the hard work of dedicated staff. Our 30 years celebrations in Orkney intends to mark the occasion with a number of promotional events during the year, where we will hope to catch up with past, present and future clients, partner agencies and others. Anyone interested in finding out what we do will be most welcome.

PROJECT SUCCESS AS HOMES ARE RENOVATED

Two more homes have been improved through the Orkney Care and Repair Project which aims to assist elderly and disabled people in Orkney to maintain and improve their homes.

The Project, now in its third year, is co-ordinated by the charity Shelter, on behalf of the Scottish Development Department and is supported by Orkney Islands Council and other organisations including the Earl Haig Fund.

Mr Mike Cooper, the local project worker has seen the scheme operate amongst "some of the worst rural housing conditions in Scotland," he says.

"To remain in ones own environment, in the comfort of ones own home, is of prime importance.

"With a significant gap existing between waiting lists and the availability of good rental accommodation it is recognised that many home improvement schemes should be encouraged. "We can only hope the Government recognise and will reflect this need in their future allocations to the ho sector in Orkney." Local contractors Cogle Mowat and J. & D. Firth involved in the improv work at the home of Sinclair.

Transport within Orkney was limited in the 1980s; however as ro-ro ferries were introduced Care and Repair was able to extend the service to assist a greater number of vulnerable households across the Islands.

The Scottish Government has a longstanding policy of “shifting the balance of care”, that is supporting people to remain at home independently for as long as possible, rather than in care homes or hospitals. Emergency admissions to hospital by older people cost £1.4 billion in Scotland each year. The benefits of providing the right housing and support at the right time will be considerable, reducing both the costs and trauma of unplanned hospital admissions. In the context of a growing population of older people in Scotland, Care and Repair offers a cost-effective solution to the rising costs of care support.

A recent publication from “Equality and Human Rights Commission Scotland states:

“Housing is the cornerstone of independent living, yet many disabled people live in homes that do not meet their requirements. If disabled people are to have choice and control over their lives, then urgent action is required to make sure that future housing supply is accessible for everyone.”

NHS Scotland’s briefing “Housing and Health inequalities” states “Everyone in Scotland should have an affordable home that meets their needs”.

The problems are not new, however they are becoming recognised as we identify that housing has a direct influence on health.

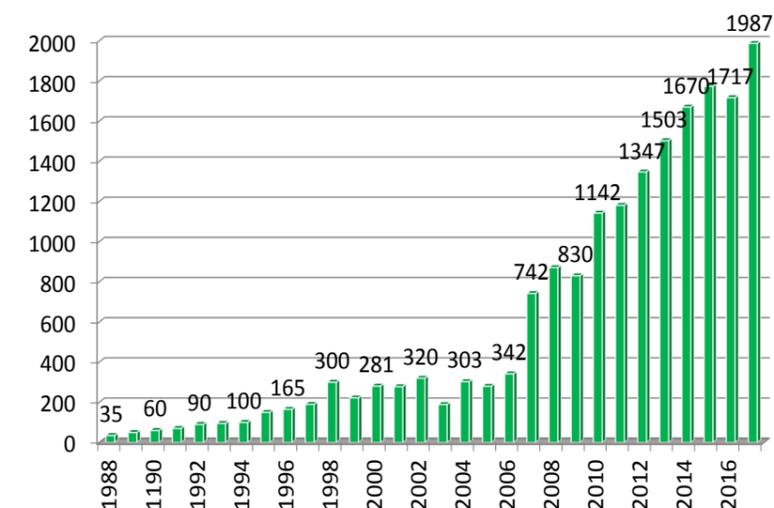

As the population grows older, with more people requiring property adaptations and improvements to help them retain their independence at home, people will need the help of Care and Repair more than ever before.

The scope of our Care and Repair service has grown over the years; originally assistance was aimed exclusively at elderly and disabled households, however Local House Condition Surveys revealed high levels of properties in very poor condition and increasing fuel poverty issues were identified across all tenures and so our remit was widened to include low-income groups.

Orkney Islands Council were hugely supportive of the service from an early date providing revenue funding once Shelter/Government sources ceased. As a result C&R became instrumental in reducing BTS levels in Orkney from 21% in 1991 to 4% by 2003. (Orkneys Local Housing Strategy 2004-2009)

This Council partnership still exists and we now deliver their obligations under “Scheme of Assistance, which entitles any private sector owner or tenant to help and advice, regardless of income. We have also developed a close working relationship with Orkney Health and Care, which ensures many more households are able to remain in their own community and enjoy independence at home for longer.

Advice, support and advocacy is a valuable part of what householders are offered and to underline increasing housing-related problems the number of recorded Advice cases have increased by almost 80% over the past 5 years. Some problems can be addressed over the phone or by email, however a large number of solutions require home visits and further assistance.

It should be noted that while Small Repairs cases have increased by over 30% in 5 years the cost per person has decreased. We are constantly aware of a need to maximise service delivery costs whilst enabling householders to take responsibility for their own maintenance and repairs. Keeping works affordably within low-income budgets for our clients is therefore essential.

Care and Repair Scotland estimate that for every £1 spent on C&R services the NHS saves £4.50.

This equates to a significant saving in Orkney alone and as part of Scotland as a whole the Service is making a huge contribution to budgets and lives.
